

The QA Engineer will provide expertise in the area of Manual and Automated QA activities for client-server applications, with particular focus on web components and high volume data flow and transactions.